

Constructivism...in Theory

The "learner" below, Stuart Dent (Student for short), prior to the new learning experience...with all his knowledge, skills, understandings, perceptions. These are his "thinking tools" which he will rely upon when engaging with new knowledge, skills, and understandings.

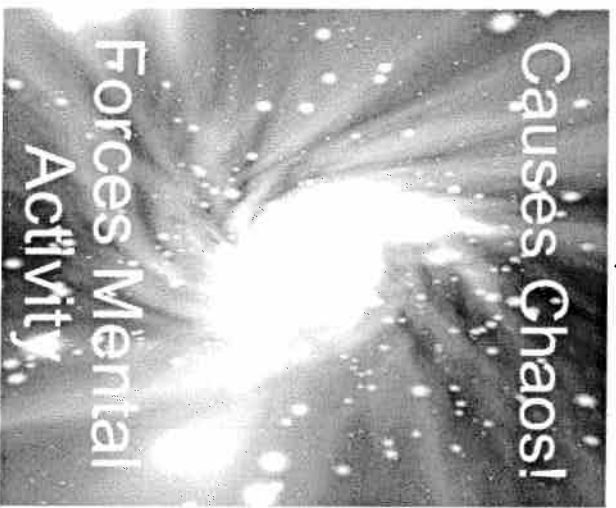

HELLO HELLO

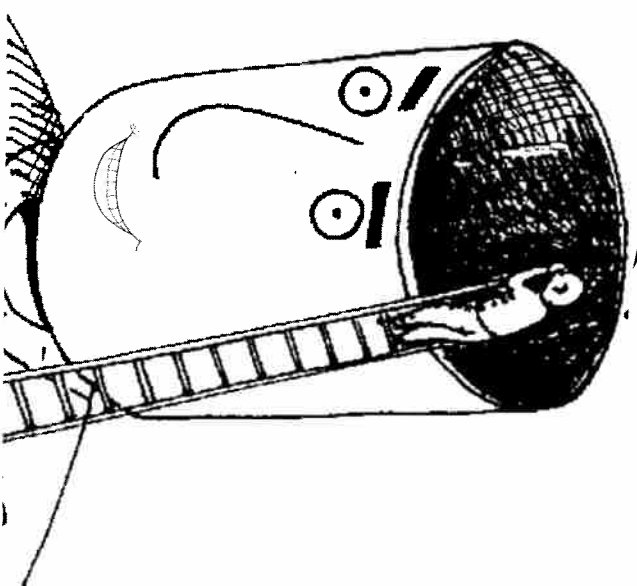

We're not really sure what's in here, but we definitely need to find out...

Unit of Study

New body of information, knowledge, skills, understandings based on State Standard and District Curriculum

Stu after his learning experiences with the new material. Stu must examine the new material; he must think about it in relationship to what he already knows; he must work with it. Finally, he will make it his own, and he will emerge with a new set of knowledge, skills, understandings, and perceptions.

Clearly more in here than the last time we looked...and Stu appears to be quite pleased with himself as well!